Quotes From The News

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

WASHINGTON — President Nixon, outlining his view of future world problems at the 20th birthday celebration of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization: "Living in the real world of today means unflinching our old concepts of east versus west, while never losing sight of great ideological differences."

LOS ANGELES — Defense attorney Grant Cooper, asking the jury to spare the life of his client, Sirhan B. Sirhan, accused murderer of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy: "I am not going to ask for anything but guilty of murder in the second degree. There is a very good Sirhan and a bad Sirhan and the bad Sirhan is a very nasty Sirhan."

SAN FRANCISCO — A soldier, chopping wood in the 6th Army's Presidio Stockade, from which there have been several escapes and a well-publicized "mutiny": "It's better than cracking rocks."

WASHINGTON — King Hussein of Jordan, claiming to speak for Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser in offering two key concessions for settling the Arab-Israeli dispute: "He does not want war for the sake of war. He, like us, wants nothing more than the restoration of our rights and the establishment of a just and lasting peace in the area."

West German Influence Being Felt

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst
As French influence on the continent of Europe wanes because of President Charles de Gaulle's go-it-alone policies, West German influence and confidence gains both inside and outside of NATO and the European Common Market.

"As foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization meet in Washington this week, West German Foreign Minister Willy Brandt will arrive with two specific proposals in mind."

One will urge that the NATO council consider a response to an appeal from Communist nations of the Warsaw Pact for a European security conference. It was a mark of West Germany's growing confidence in the part it is to play in foreign affairs that Brandt instantly welcomed the Communist proposal without waiting for a response from other NATO nations.

U.S. reaction was cool. A second proposal will urge that the Western powers take a new initiative on the deadlocked German problem.

The West Germans believe that the Soviet Union increasingly desires to improve its relations with the West, and that now is the time for the United States, Britain and France to ask the Russians to join in a move toward improving human contacts between the divided Germans.

The British support the German plan. The French are indifferent. The Bonn proposal looks toward a series of "partial agreements" which would sidestep the troublesome issue of diplomatic recognition of Communist East Germany.

One such agreement would provide improved arrangements

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Murder by Automobile

Although cars kill more than 50,000 Americans every year, we seldom think of a car as a murder weapon. Nevertheless, with growing frequency, motorists are being convicted of the crime of murder by automobile.

The key ingredient, upping the offense from mere manslaughter to murder, is malice. And a jury may find malice by logical deduction from the circumstances of the killing. For example:

A man who was rebuffed by his girl friend pushed her out of the car, ran her down, then backed over her prostrate body. In this behavior a jury found ample evidence of malicious intent, and brought in a verdict of murder by automobile.

Even if a driver has no specific intent to kill anybody, he may still commit murder—if his conduct is reckless enough to imply malice. That, in another case, a man decided it would be great fun to drive up close to pedestrians and make them jump. After playing this little game several times, he misjudged his distance and struck down an innocent victim.

Tried afterward for murder by automobile, the man pleaded a lack of any intent to kill. But the court found him guilty as charged. "Malice," said the judge, "does not necessarily mean an actual intent to take human life. It may be implied, as when an act is done so recklessly as to manifest depravity of mind and disregard of human life."

Still, however wrongful a driver's conduct, he is not guilty of murder if there is no causal connection between his bad driving and the accident itself.

Suppose, for instance, that a drunken driver is traveling down the street when he suddenly has a blowout. If the car jumps the curb and kills a pedestrian, solely because of the blowout, the driver could not be convicted of murder.

True, a jury might find malice in the way he was driving. But if the blowout would have resulted in the accident anyhow, then the bad driving could not be the cause of death.

Almanac

by United Press International
Today is Friday, April 11, the 101st day of 1969 with 264 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase.

The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

On this day in history: In 1896 president McKinley asked Congress to declare war on Spain.

In 1951, President Truman fired Gen. Douglas MacArthur as commander of forces in Korea.

In 1966, Guam-based B-52 bombers struck in Vietnam for the first time.

In 1968, President Johnson ordered 10,000 Reservists to duty and set a ceiling of 640,500 as the U.S. troop strength in Vietnam.

A thought for the day—General MacArthur said, "There is no substitute for victory."

WALL STREET CHATTER

NEW YORK (UPI) — The current Wall Street preoccupation with inflation, disinflation, Vietnam, and light money is a clear sign that the present market is on the defensive, says Spear and Staff.

Lacking a definitive and positive indication of peace in Vietnam the market will be in poor condition psychologically when it contends with the prospect of lower earnings late in the year, the firm says.

One of the excesses that must come to an end before the bulls can breathe easier, according to Harris, Upham, is the continuing speculative activity, particularly in new issues. The SEC received 150 registration statements on the last day of March, and 550 for that month, versus 354 during the same period a year ago, the firm notes.

for visitors from one part of Germany to the other.

Another possibility would be negotiations between the two central banks on payments required by the growing trade between East and West Germany.

Annual Oscar Awards Be Featured On TV Monday

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK UPI — There will be enough unusual offerings on the three television networks during the week to make you almost forget, temporarily, that all of the established series are rushing headlong into the re-run period that will be with us for approximately five months.

Dominant, of course, will be the motion picture industry's annual Oscar awards, available on ABC Monday night. This network happily brings back "The Saint" adventure series, a mixture of new and old episodes.

Movie Star's Status Is In Contract

By VERNON SCOTT

UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD UPI — Today, class, let us consider the prerogatives of motion picture stars at work.

A star may be singled out by the number of status symbols provided in his or her contract; the set of rules set forth for weeks or months of work at a studio.

Most important is money. A worthwhile star will command at least a quarter-million dollars with the number of working days stipulated in advance. If production runs over schedule the star is paid ever-increasing amounts for each day's labor.

Fringe Benefits

Assuming no one knows the star's exact salary, there are other fringe benefits that set him apart from feature players, supporting actors and other spear carriers.

The star has a small apartment on the studio lot, usually complete with kitchen, drawing room, bedroom and make-up room.

Additionally, there is a portable dressing room on wheels on the sound stage, air-conditioned, of course.

An important perk is a studio limousine loaned the star complete with driver to fetch and deliver the exalted one from home to sound stage. The star also uses the car to go from stage to dressing room on the lot.

Another extra is the star's right to have the studio commissary cater private lunch in his dressing room. Failing that, the star can reserve a table in the ultra-private dining room usually reserved for studio executives.

Call To Work

Most important of a star's prerogatives, however, is the call to work.

At the end of a day on the set an assistant director tells each player what time he will report to work the following morning.

Frequently supporting players and character actors are called in every day, whether the schedule calls for them to appear on camera or not. The excuse is, "just in case you are needed."

Often they spend the entire day sitting around waiting.

The star is never signaled to work until the director makes it clear that he or she will indeed be in a scene and at a specific time.

Finally, and absolute proof of stardom, is the actor who argues, screams or otherwise blows his cool on the set. He can blast the director, damn the producer and bestow curses on the studio president with impunity.

The star figures they all need him more than he needs them.

More than 300 Nebraska streams are named for individuals.

The sparrow hawk's favorite foods are grasshoppers and other large insects.

California supplies about 80 percent of all wine consumed in the United States.

Bats are the only mammals that fly.

Alabama ranks second among the states in bauxite production.

Chicago Cubs Top Phils Behind Santo's Two Homers

By JOE CARNICELLI
UPI Sports Writer

Leo Durocher, who maintains that "nice guys finish last" is also a firm believer in another theory—that strong guys finish first.

And Durocher seems to have molded one of the strongest, most well-balanced attacks in the National League this season in his effort to bring the Chicago Cubs their first pennant in 24 years.

The Cubs' attack has been both balanced and awesome thus far in the 1968 season. Tuesday it was the veteran Enrie Banks, who smashed a pair of homers to pace Chicago over Philadelphia. Wednesday's hero was Billy Williams, with four doubles—tying a major league record—highlighting a 16-hit Cub attack. And Thursday it was Ron Santo's turn.

Santo hit two home runs to power the Cubs to their third consecutive victory, a 6-2 decision over the Phils. His first came in the fourth inning and he connected again in the seventh, both times with two out. The veteran third baseman also singled and scored a run in the sixth.

Randy Hundley also had a solo homer for the Cubs and left-hander Ken Holtzman scattered 10 hits in going the distance, a feat he accomplished only six times in 32 starts last season.

Elsewhere in the National League, Pittsburgh nipped St. Louis 3-2. New York downed Montreal 4-2 and San Diego shutout Houston 2-0.

Willie Stargell doubled and Bill Mazeroski singled for runs in the eighth inning to lift the Pirates to victory over the Cardinals and a sweep of their three-game series against the defending league champions.

Opens With Single
Rickey Hebert opened the eighth with a single and took second on a wild pitch, after Roberto Clemente walked, Stargell doubled to score Hebert and, after an intentional walk, Mazeroski singled off pitcher Ray Washburn's leg to score Clemente. Right-hander Dock Ellis went all the way for the Pirates.

Tommie Agee belted two long home runs and rookie right-hander Gary Gentry, with relief help in the ninth from Cal Koonce, was a winner in his first major league game in the Mets' triumph over the Expos. Agee, who had only five homers last season, connected against Larry Jaster in the third and added another solo shot in the seventh. Koonce relieved Gentry with the score 4-2 and two on in the ninth. He walked the first batter before getting pinch hitter Don Bosh on a fly to end the game.

San Diego stayed at the top of the West Division with its third straight victory over Houston. Ollie Brown drove in both sides runs with a third inning groundout and a sixth inning homer. Dick Kelley won the game with ninth inning relief help from Billy McCool and Frank Roberger.

Howard Bats Senators To Second Win

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

Frank Howard, already the only major league slugger Ted Williams must look up to, says the new Washington Senator manager hasn't seen anything yet.

Howard, who at 8-foot-8 towers over the 6-4 Williams, has hit four homers in leading the Senators to two victories in their first three games. But he observed through a cloud of cigar smoke Thursday that he still hasn't found his best groove.

"I wasn't swinging the bat real well," said Howard after hitting two homers in Thursday's 9-6 victory over the New York Yankees. "Well, at least as well as I did in that streak a year ago."

Williams was fishing in the Florida everglades last year when Howard went on a tour of 10 homers in six games en route to a major league leading season total of 44. Now Ted is a .667 manager—two wins in three games—and Howard is proving that a lengthy spring loading hasn't robbed him of his ability to hit baseball over buildings.

Howard and Bert Albee hit two-run homers off Fritz Peterson in the first inning and tagged Fred Talbot for a solo shot in the fifth. The three homers were the big blows of a 16-hit attack which enabled Jim Hannan to receive credit for the victory although he needed relief help from Bob Humphreys and Dennis Higgins.

Frank Fernandez drove in five runs for the Yankees with a grand slam homer in the sixth inning and a solo in the eighth. The world champion Detroit Tigers defeated the Baltimore Orioles scored a 13-inning 2-1 triumph over the Boston Red Sox in the other American League games.

"Bill Freshen hit the second grand slam of his career in the eighth inning and homered again in the seventh to lead a 13-hit Detroit attack which enabled World Series hero Mickey Lolich to coast to a victory. Mickey Stanley and Willie Horton also homered for the Tigers, who hammered 1988 AL strikeout king Sam McDowell for seven runs in five innings. Lolich, the surprise pitcher of the 1968 World Series when he beat the Cardinals three times, allowed six hits including a homer by Tony Horton but walked only two and struck out seven.

Frank Robinson doubled and scored on a single by Boog Powell with none out in the 13th inning to give the Orioles their victory over the Red Sox. Mike Cuellar, acquired from Houston during the winter, allowed only four hits in the first 10 innings although Dave Leonard, who pitched only one inning, received credit for the victory.

Kentucky College All-Stars Meet Indiana Tonight

LOUISVILLE, Ky. UPI — The Kentucky College All-Stars tonight try to extend their mastery over their Indiana counterparts in the seven meeting of the best graduating college seniors from both neighbor states.

Kentucky owns a 5-1 record over the Hoosiers in the annual two-game series, begun in 1955 by Sertoma International for charity.

Following tonight's clash at Freedom Hall, the second game in the home- and -home series shifts to Hinkle Fieldhouse at Indianapolis Saturday night.

This year's games will be played under basic American Basketball Association rules, including three-point field goals, four 12-minute quarters and no shot fouls for certain backcourt violations.

Eastern Kentucky University coach Guy Strong will pilot the Kentucky collegians. The starting five will be Butch Beard of Louisville, Bobby Washington of Eastern, Willie Jackson of Morehead, George Tinsley of Kentucky Wesleyan and Lamar Green of Morehead.

Notre Dame coach Johnny Deane has named Bill DeLoach of Indiana, Bob Whitmore of Notre Dame, Bill Keller of Purdue, Dwight Murphy of Notre Dame and Chuck Taylor of Taylor to start for the Hoosiers.

Each team carries a 12-man roster. Other Kentucky players are Jerry King of Louisville, Jim Stokes of Murray, John Davis of Georgetown, Jim Hurley of Transylvania, Phil Argento of Kentucky, John Wolf of Bellarmine and Rich Hendrick of Western Kentucky.

The fact he was three shots under par, only three back of leader Billy Casper was one thing. The fact he out-scored such veteran hands on the tour as Bob Goalby, Julius Boros, Don January, Gary Player and Sam Snead was another thing. But Bruce Fleisher coming in better than Arnold Palmer, the golfer he idolizes and the one he played together with, was something else again, Palmer had a 73.

"I found out I was going to play together with him yesterday and I almost shot out of my chair," Fleisher said, after finishing the round.

Fleisher, blond, lanky and just this side of the mod-looking Kenney Harrison type, was completely composed as he sat on the couch always used by the leading scorers and answered questions. They asked him where he was from and he said he grew up in Wilmington, N.C., but he was from all over, Georgia, Florida, Arizona, South Carolina, and Jamaica in the West Indies. Pinned down he said he was born in Union City, Tenn.

"How many girl friends do you have?" they wanted to know. "I only got one," he said, exercising discretion as well as the proper modesty. "I'm true."

Now really, who does that sound like more, Bruce Fleisher or good old Joe Willie?

Then there was this big banquet they were holding in New York two months ago. When they introduced the smiling, good-looking Fleisher, who had won the amateur title at Columbus, Ohio, wearing those frayed pants that are in now with the college kids, he got up and asked:

"Do you think I'm bringing sex back into golf?"

Fleisher was much more subdued Thursday. Anybody would be, even Joe Namath, after really accomplishing something. Fleisher, a kid amateur playing his first one here, accomplished something with his opening round 69.

Ban Opposite Sex from Beauty Shop?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A man complains because a woman invades his privacy when she walks into his barbershop. "All conversation stops," he says. Well, ain't that just too bad! I HAVE to take my boys (ages 4 and 6) to the barbershop for their haircuts because their father is dead, and I don't believe in "leaving" my kids places for other people to keep their eye on. They're MY kids, and it's MY job, and I stay with them.

Now, how about the MEN who come into beauty parlors to wait for their wives? I know one old coot who goes with his wife just to ogle the half-clad ladies getting their hair done.

I don't appreciate being stared at by a strange man when I've got my head in a shampoo bowl, or have a purple mess on my hair during a color.

So, be a pal, Abby, and tell men that we won't go into their barber shops unless we have a legitimate reason if they'll not come into our beauty parlors unless THEY have one.

FLORENCE IN WORTHINGTON

DEAR FLORENCE: All right, but the only legitimate reason a man could have for coming into a beauty parlor would be to announce a fire or serve a subpoena.

DEAR ABBY: The doctor says my wife has to have her ovaries removed. I know that when you say a dog, which I understand is a similar type operation, she gets fat and lazy. I am wondering if the same thing will happen to my wife?

WISCONSIN

DEAR WISCONSIN: I can't guarantee your wife won't get fat and lazy, but if she does, it won't be because of the operation.

DEAR ABBY: When I was an infant I was adopted by a couple who were told they could have no children. Soon afterwards, they had a little girl of their own. Then a boy. Then another boy. All my life I have been introduced as "the girl who adopted." My mother was always referred to as "our boys," and my sister was always called "our REAL daughter."

When my parents celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary recently, my mother announced that ALL her grandchildren were present, yet two of my children were missing.

When my sister's daughter came in with her baby, my mother said, "Here is my own and only great-grandchild." My granddaughter who is 12 heard her, and said, "I thought I was a great-grandchild, too." My mother said, "No, dear, you have to be a BLOOD RELATION to be a grandchild." Someone heard her, and said, "This is one for Dear Abby."

Well, Abby, what do you say?

ADOPTED IN LEOMINSTER, MASS.

DEAR ABBY: I say your precise recollections prove the depth of the hurt inflicted on you. I say, also, after "50 years" of enduring that hurt, why nourish it? Why keep it alive? You've WON! Why carry on the fight?

DEAR ABBY: My husband is 60, faithful, loving, and strong sexually. He says his home life is satisfying in every way. So if he is so content, why does he stare at every bosomy female he sees on the street? And why does he enjoy pictures of naked ladies in magazines?

I pray we never get a topless restaurant in our little town, for if he ever went into one, I would never be able to get him out.

Should I let him play his little boy game, or forget it? He reads you, so please print this.

BEWILDERED GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: If your "looker" is faithful and loving at 60, you don't have too much to complain about. "Looking" only is no sin, but since he knows it irritates you and looks anyway, he could be trying to prove his virility while he still can.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 6700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FOR ABBY'S BOOKLET, "HOW TO HAVE A LOVELY WEDDING," SEND $1.50 TO ABBY, BOX 6700, LOS ANGELES, CAL. 90069.

Rare Fruit
The cling peach is one of the rare carotin foods that does not lose its rich golden color from heat and water in the canning process. This is due in part to its close cellulose structure, which literally holds in the natural goodness of the fruit and maintains the firmness and beauty for which the canned cling peach is so well known.

Carpet Color Trends
HIGH POINT, N.C. (UPI) — Look for new blues and browns to move into style in the carpet world. The forecast comes from the director of style and design for one major manufacturer (Lees). Harold Erich Jung, the forecaster, said "browns... have a hint of the 30's about them... make an excellent foil for the lighter wood finishes."

Miss Audrey Lynette Richardson Wed To Bobby Lynn Brown In Lovely Ceremony At The Home Of Bride's Parents Here

Miss Audrey Lynette Richardson became the bride of Bobby Lynn Brown in an impressive ceremony solemnized at the home of the bride's parents on Friday, April 4, at seven o'clock in the evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bethel Richardson, 1007 Poplar Street, Murray, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Euclid Brown of Hardin.

Rev. Paul Dailey performed the double ring ceremony before the improvised altar in front of the fireplace in the living room of the Richardson home. The spiral candleholders were used flanked by beautiful baskets of yellow chrysanthemums.

The mantle held an arrangement of yellow gladioli and chrysanthemums.

A lovely program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Donna Jones, friend of the bride. She also played the traditional wedding marches for the processional and recession.

Bride's Dress
The bride, escorted by her father who gave her in marriage, descended the steps in the entrance hall in the living room. She was lovely in her street length wedding dress of white peau de soie fashioned princess style. The dress featured a jewel neckline and bell shaped embroidered lace sleeves scalloped at the wrist.

Her veil was attached to a small headpiece encrusted with seed pearls and rose bud clusters. She wore a silver necklace, gift of the groom.

The bride carried a bridal bouquet of pale yellow roses with baby's breath and white satin streamers.

Miss Brenda Richardson, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor and only attendant for the bride. She wore a doraon yellow street length dress with hemstitching inserts fashioned with an empire waistline and a small velvet bow.

The maid of honor wore a matching velvet bow in her hair and carried a nosegay of yellow and white daisies.

Steve Weatherford of Murray, cousin of the groom, served as best man for Mr. Brown.

Mrs. Richardson, the bride's mother, chose to wear a pale blue green knit dress with long sleeves and jewel cufflinks. The groom's mother, Mrs. Brown, wore a blue knit dress. Both wore corsages of white cymbidium orchids.

The bride's paternal grandmother, Mrs. J. B. Richardson of Aurora, wore a blue figured dress with a white cymbidium orchid corsage. Her paternal grandmother, J. B. Richardson of Aurora, and her maternal grandfather, Mason Wheeler of Murray, were also present for the wedding.

Reception
Following the ceremony the bride's parents were hosts for the reception for the immediate families and close friends of the couple.

The beautifully appointed dining room table was overlaid with white linen cloth and centered with a lovely arrangement in spring flowers in various colors. The three tiered wedding cake and punch were served from crystal appointments.

Members present were Mrs. Howard Giles, Mrs. Robert Hopkins, Mrs. E. C. Wallen, Mrs. Wallace Ford, Mrs. Bobby Grogan, Mrs. Ronald Geenens, Mrs. Julie Harcourt, Mrs. Z. C. Enix, Mrs. Donald Story, Mrs. Kenneth Ramsey, Mrs. Charles Hinds, and Mrs. Henry Bannon.

Try Turkey
Turkey meat is useful in reducing diets because it supplies generous amounts of essential nutrients and supplies only about 212 calories in a 3 1/2-ounce serving.

Watch Skin For Wrinkles If Dieting

Whether you're going to be wearing a bikini, bared midriff outfits or just sleeveless dresses, it's time to get rid of those few extra pounds you've been hiding under winter clothing.

Usually it's simply a matter of watching the high-calorie foods, but it's important to remember that even a few pounds loss can cause skin—especially if you're over 30—to slightly sag and crease temporarily.

The easy solution is daily applications of oil all over your skin, paying special attention to such areas as face, neck, upper arms and legs and your mid section. The oil keeps your skin soft and pliable in helping the skin to conform to the smaller you, via its natural elasticity.

The first girls to go on stage were the three Home Ec I girls modeling their simple-to-make dresses, followed by the stinging of a trio consisting of Jennifer Taylor, Wanda McNabb, and Sarah Cooper and accompanied by Judy Adams.

Subsequently came the two classes of Home Ec II girls modeling their sportswear. Easter spring fashions were modeled by the most advanced students who had made lined suits and coats. All the girls are to be commended for their fine jobs of sewing and modeling.

An excellent job was done in arranging and decorating for the program by Ann Hart, Chairman, and Beth Tuck, Co-chairman and the Style Show Committee.

A Great Apple
The Golden Delicious variety is the product of a "Chance seedling" first recorded in 1890. A relatively new apple variety, it is rated as one of the better eating and cooking apples. The flavor, texture and quality of the Golden Delicious makes it one of the truly all-purpose apple varieties.

Halve the Calories
Low-calorie canned cling peaches and fruit cocktail are becoming available in increasing quantities. Generally packed in water instead of the familiar syrup, these packs usually are lightly sweetened with artificial sweetener, which adds no calories. The calorie count of the fruit is cut close to half. Usually the price is about the same.

EAT AND ENJOY IT!
Eat hearty meals, and not suffer. It is different. Taken before meals, it neutralizes excess acid and lets food digest as it should. Quick relief from any ailment caused by an excess acid, gas, indigestion. Ask your neighbor who uses it. He will gladly recommend it to you.

TV Networks Are Running Very Scared

HOLLYWOOD UPI - Television's commercial networks are running very scared these days.

The fear is frankly admitted by video executives who are worried that the home medium, under government and public pressure, is headed rapidly for its own "dark ages."

A number of events in recent months have been the most responsible and broadminded television officials concerned.

There was, for instance, the terrific furor over video coverage of the riotous, disgraceful National Convention in Chicago.

As so often happens, reporters up to the executive level were chastised for covering the mess created by others.

As usual in reaction to journalist coverage—whether in newspapers or broadcasting—most letters were from those who had complaints.

As usual, the persons who felt the reporting was good did not bother to take the time to say so. And as usual, dissident viewers somehow identified the journalists with the bad news they delivered.

Then there is the fact that television, in its occasional slips in trying to keep up with the new freedom in the arts, is paying a price for the salaciousness in other media—movies, books, and the stage.

Some television officials felt code authority pre-screenings on a wide scale amounted to a step toward censorship. But the trade press reported that many broadcasters, fearful of some recent license renewal cases involving stations, seemed inclined to surrender some autonomy if they felt it might ease government pressure in future license renewals.

Backstairs At The White House

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON UPI—Backstairs at the White House: The temptation to speak out on national and international problems must be swelling up rather strongly in former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Since leaving office in January he has been uncharacteristically silent except for some written material which he had prepared prior to departure from the White House.

Reports come out of Texas and Washington from time to time that he is morose, unhappy and feels neglected.

From Johnson City, however, comes a more enthusiastic picture of a man not chafing at the bit, but behaving as he himself, promised upon leaving Washington that he would spend most of his adult life.

He is taking things easy and deliberately staying out of the public arena—at least, for the time being.

As for his being morose and unhappy, persons in frequent contact with him say this is untrue; that despite behavioral patterns of the past, he has adjusted quite well to life outside a pressure cooker.

Accepting that Johnson's recent silence is something less than a permanent condition, one has an easier time understanding it. The late President Dwight D. Eisenhower certainly avoided making waves in the media shortly after he left office. Former President Harry S. Truman also stayed away from public issues for some months following his departure, concentrating instead on magazine-length memoirs and visiting with old friends in his neighborhood at Independence, Mo.

Johnson's retirement may be more difficult than the same period for Truman and Eisenhower in that he cannot move around with the freedom they enjoyed. Feelings about the Vietnam War and racial unrest still run high and there are Americans who insist on blaming LBJ for these two trouble areas.

Without the massive protection afforded a president in office, Johnson with his relatively small Secret Service detail might risk troublesome demonstrations. This is one reason why his currently rare movements away from home base are cloaked in as much secrecy as the security which prevailed when he was in office. Perhaps more.

Spring Is Busting Out All Over

By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP
By United Press International

The yellow roses are in bloom in San Antonio; residents of Spring Valley, Ill., population 3,500 are in the midst of a citywide cleanup campaign; a lady in Lexington, Mass., saw a rosy finch.

Tens of millions of other Americans enjoyed spring in their own way today. United Press International, carried by the bright skies and balmy temperatures, contacted a number of them to talk about it.

"I'm going out to Beaver Lake to fish for bass now that I've painted all the woodwork around home," said Tito Moran, a post office official in Springfield, Ark., which claims to be the chicken capital of the world.

In Kirby, Mont., 300 new calves were added to a herd of 1,300 cattle on the Lazy T Ranch.

"And we've got more on the way," said ranch owner Walter J. Taylor. "It means nothing but work until next fall, then maybe I'll take a vacation."

While the hills were barely green in Montana, San Antonio was lushly emerald enhanced by blooming briar wren, laurel, redwood, yellow rose, peach, cottonwood and mesquite. Mrs. Peter Hebeola, an artist, was outdoors at her easel.

"I always feel more like painting when spring comes," said Diana Hobson. "I get a lot more work done when the weather is lovely."

Near the monument of the Minute Man beside "The rude bridge that arched the flood" the crocuses were in bloom just 11 days before the anniversary of the Battle of Lexington, Mass. Mrs. Olivia Vaillemier of Lexington prepared to rake her lawn for the first time with gratitude in her heart.

Saw Rosy Finch
"We're all very grateful here for spring after that long winter of snow - four feet! It has never been deeper in my lifetime. The finches are almost out and today I saw rosy finch. That's very unusual. We generally just have purple finches."

And in New York, you could tell it was spring. The Mets lost their eighth consecutive home opener.

Their conquerors this time were the Montreal Expos, brash newcomers from the North, seeking their first major league victory.

To be fair, the Mets made it close, scoring four runs in the ninth inning to close the margin to 10-6. But not true, Met fans expected a victory.

At the end of the game, 45,000 winter weary fans breathed a grateful sigh of relief and filed out of Shea Stadium joyfully looking for other harbingers of spring - like crocuses and rosebuds and robins on the wing.

PEACE PARLEY — President Nixon and Jordan's King Hussein announce mutual search for Mideast peace in this White House scene.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK UPI - Over the intermediate term stock prices will most likely work lower on fundamentals, interrupted by recurring peace-hope rallies, Moody's Investors Service says. Fluctuation of the investor at this time, the firm says, with reserves handy to be committed if a peace rally comes. "Since history suggests that a peace rally could be lengthy and sizable," the firm adds, "the prudent course is to wait for confirmation."

Reynolds & Co. observes that the last time money was tightened severely was in 1966 and the pattern of that year is worth studying for its similarity to 1968, so far. In 1966 the market declined sharply at the beginning of the year, rallied deceptively, declined sharply again, rallied aggressively again, and then tumbled in September and October. As late as the beginning of August many market leaders were "acting well," the firm says.

Patience may be out of step with the time, after a couple of lull years from the performance standpoint, but according to Shearson, Hammill & Co., it is essential to the investor today. A return to 1967-68 stock market conditions is not in immediate prospect. While there are still decent profit opportunities around, the firm says, the time it may take to realize them is likely to be stretched out to something more like pre-1967 norms.

new lows, cresting of several aggressive trading stocks, and strength in gold stocks, which usually run counter to the market.

ABOUT INFLATION

WASHINGTON UPI - The Federal Reserve System is practicing what it preaches about inflation. "To minimize the competition for scarce goods and services during the current inflationary period," it said, it has indefinitely postponed construction of a $30 million annex to its headquarters here. It urged Federal Reserve banks across the country to cut their construction plans to a minimum.

BUFFALO BACK

WASHINGTON UPI - Secretary Walter J. Hickel is planning to put the buffalo back in the Interior Department's official seal. It was learned that the switch from the modern design that former Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall ordered "is in the works." Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., who recently called the new seal a "Madison Avenue fantasy," said he was "greatly pleased."

YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU

CHARACTER is by product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions and that forthly and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy in the church the ministerial are making religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we young our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. You in the Church and the Church in you form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

Judas, the traitorous, perfidious, faithless (Apostle who, under the semblance of friendship, betrayed Christ. How many good, sound, fair appearing persons do you know who are like Judas? All but are worthless, deceptive characters . . . not to be trusted. How many Judases do you know?)

What a chance this man had for greatness! What an opportunity for service to a world in urgent need of One to lead him to the Father and the Father's pathway! What would we not give for his opportunity to do and to be! But Judas' "blackest out" . . . He failed and wrote his own name in "DEEP GLACK" across the parchment of history for time. He preferred thirty pieces of silver to the fellowship and blessing of Jesus; he failed to appreciate beauty and to value the fellowship companionship with the highest. His "sights" were low . . . his interests selfish.

Other men counted it an honor to carry a cross for the Master. JUDAS sent Him to Calvary to die in shameful agony. JUDAS might have followed CHRIST to the cross in a martyr's death. But he preferred a disgraceful gain in the field of the nameless or shameless dead.

We have but one life to live, and that one life is too precious to be wasted. "What if it cost a man to gain the whole world and lose his life? What is it to 'lose' that? What is it to 'gain' the whole world? Shall we sell our souls for the gain of a truly a world of dying men. This man Judas gloriated over his gain, but generations have since learned a best soul. Are you and I really winning, or are we losing? Do we have but one life to live? Shall we sell our souls for the gain of a truly a world of dying men for ourselves and for humanity? Shall we not hold it high for the service of JUDAS.

REPEAL UPSETTING

AUSTIN, Tex., UPI—A Dallas attorney is concerned about a state representative's efforts to repeal an old law empowering the governor of Texas to call out the militia to control Indian uprisings.

In a letter to Rep. Richard A. Cory, sponsor of the repeal, the lawyer said, "My wife is of Indian ancestry. This provision in the state Constitution provides me with a bit of an edge during arguments, and I need all the help I can get."

Crappy Hollow Hill. We once heralded this little spot as our haven of bliss. Since she went away it now stands as my mausoleum of sadness as well as my castle of cherished memories. Don't misunderstand me, I am not complaining because my door to happiness has been unopened with a wreath of sadness. After all, for many years, we basked in the sunshine of togetherness and were drenched with showers of blessings. As the embers of my life slowly smolder during my December days, I thank my Creator for the golden years which we spent together.

The cold storms of the elements bring about the hall, the ice and the snow. Strong dissensions of rulers, kings and kingdoms, bring about wars which destroy lives, savage nations and try men's souls.

My film of memory depicts some of the bygone years of 1918. As most everyone is aware, it was during the spring of 1917 that America entered World War I. During that war the spirit of loyalty was rejuvenated, patriotism reached its peak, and examples of neighborly love were personified in the depths of reality. Many poems and songs of patriotism were born during those beleaguered years. Although it wasn't released until somewhat later, it was during 1917 that Irving Berlin composed the popular patriotic song, "God Bless America". I can almost hear the echoes of the melodious voices of school children as they sang in pep parades—such songs as: Keep the Home Fires Burning, We Are Going Over, Over There and many others.

Flanders Field became a symbol of American renown. It was in this United States military cemetery near Wareghem, Belgium, that the bodies of 368 servicemen are buried. It was there that the Canadian medic and poet John McCrae, while acting in the line of duty, saw the poppies growing between the crosses of the fallen heroes. The scene inspired him to write the poem, "In Flanders Fields".

While the shot and shell were screaming on foreign battle fields, the scourge of influenza broke out in our training camps as well as in the homes of our nation. Many a heartstone flickered with the flame of grief that was kindled by the ravages of that disease. Adding to the discomforts of life and the tragedies of death were the windy blasts, the blizzards and the snows which bol of American renown. It was in this United States military cemetery near Wareghem, Belgium, that the bodies of 368 servicemen are buried. It was there that the Canadian medic and poet John McCrae, while acting in the line of duty, saw the poppies growing between the crosses of the fallen heroes. The scene inspired him to write the poem, "In Flanders Fields".

While the shot and shell were screaming on foreign battle fields, the scourge of influenza broke out in our training camps as well as in the homes of our nation. Many a heartstone flickered with the flame of grief that was kindled by the ravages of that disease. Adding to the discomforts of life and the tragedies of death were the windy blasts, the blizzards and the snows which wrought havoc during the dual winters of 1917 and 1918. During November of 1917, a snow started to fall. The flakes piled higher and higher until they reached a depth of three feet and in some places even more. Due to the extreme cold weather, that white carpet remained on the ground until March of 1918. The rivers froze over from bank to bank. So thick was the sheet of ice that young men of a more daring spirit rode their horses and drove their vehicles out on the glistering surface of the Tennessee River. At least one man, uncle Dee McClure, walked across the ice of that challenging stream. The names of many sung, as well as unsung heroes of that day again come into mind.

Among those men of dedicated valor were the old country doctors, such as E. R. Blalock, J. A. Outland, Bill Grube and others. Dr. Mark Wilson died in 1915 as I remember. Although he passed away before World War I and the tragic winter heretofore mentioned, I, as well as many others, owe him a debt of gratitude. It was he, who during a dark night of 1901, rode a horse along a dim path of Blood River bottom and delivered me into this world. In answer to the call of misery and pain, those doctors braved the storms of the day as well as the darkness of night. In most cases, either astride a horse, or seated in an old shakily buggy, they trudged their way along muddy roads and miry lanes. They rode with dedication regardless of compensation. They died without medals, and with too little acclaim. To me these unsung heroes of yesterday were the trailblazers and the torchbearers of the medical facilities which we now enjoy.

During that war, as a safeguard against depriving our servicemen of essential food, the government either confiscated or rationed flour, sugar and meat. Yes, we had our wheatless days, our meatless days and our sweetless days. I don't recall any poverty program or poor peoples march. If the incentive to do so had been sown, who could sweeten his coffee with sorghum molasses and march on a semi-empty stomach? I do recall the fact that we children wrapped grass sacks around our legs and trudged our way for a distance of three miles to school.

Regardless of rain, sleet, or snow, I didn't miss a day during school term of 1917 and 1918. Firstly, may I give credit to our mother who was dedicated to the cause of education. She wanted us to drink every drop of information that could possibly be obtained from the cup of knowledge. The second reason for my punctuality was due to the presence of a little girl in that school. Frankly, I will have to admit that I was more thirsty to drink from the eyes of that thirteen year old maiden than I was to sip from the fountain of knowledge.

All though, I recuperated from the effects of mumps, measles and other diseases which I contracted during my early school years; yet, the dart which I received from Cupid's Arrow during that 1917 school term left its scar for evermore. Tho' she now rests in eternal sleep, she personifies a reflection that shall remain with me as the years go by. As I finalize this article, I would like to attempt to eulogize the memory of my childhood sweetheart and deceased wife with the following heartfelt lines:

I learned the true meaning of sorrow,
I fathomed the depth of despair,
When I saw her draw her last breath
And realized that life was no longer there.
As a bell in the dark
Pierces the quietness from afar,
I knew I had lost my greatest inspiration
As well as my guiding star.
Though my star has changed
And no longer brightens life's sky,
She will be the flame in my galaxy of memories
As the months and the years
By the springtime when the dogwoods blossom
And the daisies adorn our mossy hill,
I will plant a rose beside her grave
In memory of a childhood love that lingers still.

More People Are Using Monorail

By LEON DANIEL

TOKYO UPI — Traffic congestion is giving a financial boost to the world's longest commercial monorail system.

The monorail runs from the downtown area to Tokyo International Airport. It also runs in the red.

But the system lately has been getting a lot more passengers because of the heavy traffic on the expressway that runs parallel to it.

Electric Cars

The electric cars cover the 7.48 mile route in 15 minutes. A one-way ticket costs 150 yen (42 cents), a round-trip ticket 270 yen (75 cents).

The monorail line opened just in time for the Olympics in September, 1964. Hopes were high and there was even talk that the sleek trains would be able to knife through Tokyo at 70 miles per hour.

But their average speed turned out to be 31.8 m.p.h. It was discovered that the ride gets quite bumpy when the trains approach their actual top speed of 48 miles per hour.

Before the expressway traffic got so heavy, cars parallel to the monorail could travel a faster speed than the trains. But as the traffic worsens, the monorail system moves closer toward the black ink.

The man behind the monorail system is Tetsuzo Inamura, president of the Imperial Hotel.

Dreamed of System

Inamura dreamed of a system that could have ignored the red violation flag on a parking meter in downtown Houston, Tex. Three beepers removed the swarm.

The trouble is that the monorail does not quite make it to the center of the city. Its terminal point is Hamamatsu Cho, a station about one mile from the Ginza, the shopping, entertainment and business district.

Tourists who come into the city by monorail must taxi from Hamamatsu Cho to their hotels, most of which are located more than a mile away.

Line officials still have a plan to extend the monorail into the Ginza when funds are available. The company said it expects to reach the break-even point in 1970.

The $55 million project was a joint venture of several Japanese firms under a license from the West German Alweg Company which has exclusive monorail rights throughout the world.

Nixes Wagner BRIDGEPORT Conn (UPI)—Cantor Ramon Gilbert will not co-officiate at ceremonies in which the wedding music of Richard Wagner is performed because he believes the German composer held "blatant, arrogant and well-documented anti-Semitic feelings."

The popular nuptial music from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" is an unattractive alternative for the cantor. Wedding ceremonies at his congregation's B'nai Israel must meet the demands of tried and true "Jewishness." After all, Gilbert says, "A cantor is trained to maintain a certain tradition, not contribute to its dissolution."

Body Found In LBL Area

LAND BETWEEN THE LAKES, Tenn.

The body of a badly decomposed man was found here just over the Kentucky border Thursday. Jack Charlton, of the Tennessee Bureau of Criminal Identification identified the man as Bill L. Hallows, 38, of Collinsville, Ill. Charlton said an autopsy would be performed Friday.

Hallows was a building contractor who came often to this area to fish. According to police friends of the man had said that Hallows had been despondent lately. He was married and had a family.

More than 300 types of products now are packaged in aerosol containers, the industry reports.

OVERPAKED—Several thousand bees ignore the red violation flag on a parking meter in downtown Houston, Tex. Three beepers removed the swarm.

Residential—Litter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Few residents think of litter in terms of their own front yards or their neighborhood streets.

Such discards as candy wrappers, newspapers, beverage containers and cigarette packs are not deemed "litter" by some people when strewn in a community setting.

Keep America Beautiful, Inc., national anti-litter organization, says littering is thought of largely in connection with highways, roads and recreational areas.

Files For Calloway
County
Court Clerk

A young man who is able and willing to serve you.

It is a pleasure to announce to you my candidacy for Calloway County Court Clerk in the Democratic Primary on May 27, 1968.

Kentucky is my birthplace and Calloway County is my home. I am married to the former Joyce Housden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eunice and Mary Housden. My wife and I live with our three children in the New Providence Community. We attend the New Providence Church of Christ and I belong to the Woodmen of the World.

I have attended Murray State University and for the past five years I have managed the Time Finance Office in Murray. As you know, any person in charge of a lending institution must work closely with the County Clerk's office in the recording of liens, and in checking titles, deeds, and real estate mortgages. While serving the public in the loan business I have learned about the many duties of the County Court Clerk's office.

Murray and Calloway County are growing at a rapid pace. With this growing population many new and difficult problems will confront the next County Court Clerk. I believe a young man with the ability and willingness to work for you, can best serve you in the next four years.

I believe any person asking you, the voter, to place him in a public office, should take a stand on what he plans to do. Below I state my position and plans for your consideration.

I. I oppose two State Laws. The 5% sales tax now being charged on the transfer of used vehicles is unjust and must be repealed. Also the increase of license plates to a flat $12.50 hurts you, the working public. Your County Clerk must enforce these State Laws, but if elected I promise to work myself or with any groups to repeal these laws, and to fight wild tax increases of this kind to come.

II. Most counties are now using photostatic copying machines for cheaper and faster processing of deeds and real estate mortgages. With the approval of the fiscal court, I plan to bring Calloway County up to par with other counties, by using a copying machine.

III. I pledge efficient, honest, and friendly service to each and every citizen of Murray and the county. I am working now, and will continue to work hard, to see as many of you as possible before May 27. Until then please accept this statement as my sincere personal request for your vote, support, and influence in the upcoming primary.

Sincerely,
FRED WILHITE
